

Faith Facts

Q.: What is an ecumenical council?

A.: An ecumenical council is a solemn, official gathering of all of the bishops of the world, and when confirmed by the pope, constitutes the highest teaching authority within the Church. Catholics believe that these councils are guided by the Holy Spirit in a special way and are preserved from error.

Interesting? More next week...