Dear Brothers,

Each April, our local Church participates in the national observance of Child Abuse Prevention Month. Protecting young people and vulnerable adults from abuse in all of its forms is a responsibility that we all share and one that our Church takes very seriously. The Archdiocese of Philadelphia has long maintained and enforced a zero-tolerance policy in regard to the abuse of children.

Thanks in large part to your hard work and dedication at the parish level, our Church is a societal leader in creating safe environments for children. We participate in this annual initiative to underscore our commitment to preventing child abuse through our comprehensive, on-going efforts to protect the young people entrusted to our care.

Through vigilance, education, and continuing to employ best practices as they evolve, I firmly believe we will remain at the forefront of protection and prevention. I encourage you to visit www.AOPpledgetoProtect.com as well as www.childyouthprotection.org. These sites tell the story of where we have been, where we are, and where we are headed in our work to create safe environments and support survivors.

Lastly, I ask that you join me on April 28th for Blue Sunday, a national day of prayer for victims of abuse and those who care for them. This solemn observance will be followed by Blue Monday, April 29th. Wearing blue on these days demonstrates solidarity with our efforts to provide safe environments in our schools, parishes, and youth ministry programs.

I am deeply grateful for your generous service to all those entrusted to your care.

Fraternally in Christ,

Most Reverend Nelson J. Pérez, D.D.
Archbishop of Philadelphia
