FROM THE PASTOR

I welcome you to Our Lady of Guadalupe Roman Catholic Church in Buckingham, PA. If you are a visitor, I hope you have enjoyed your time in our beautiful church. If you are a Catholic who has not been to church recently, thank you for coming, you are always most welcome home.

If you would like to speak with someone about joining our parish or becoming a Catholic, please visit our Parish Office or visit the Welcome Booth in the church narthex after all weekend Masses. All are welcome!

Sincerely in Our Lord

Rev. Monsignor Joseph P. Gentili
Pastor, Our Lady of Guadalupe Church

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month

The Archdiocese of Philadelphia (AOP) is committed to protecting our children and providing support to victims of child abuse. Check out the parish website for more from the Archdiocese. www.olguadalupe.org/from-the-pastors-desk/

Supporting Survivors

The AOP is committed to helping survivors of childhood sexual abuse and their families heal, no matter who committed the crime against them or when the crime occurred. Every year, the AOP Victim Assistance Program offers compassionate and supportive assistance to individuals and families. During the 2016-17 fiscal year alone, the AOP dedicated over $2.8 million to make available mental health services independent of the AOP, provide medication, assist with travel and childcare, and other forms of support to men, women, children and families.

First Friday, May 4

First Friday Observation

First Friday is a special time of grace and blessing, as it enables us, through Eucharistic Adoration, to grow closer to Our Lord, Who is present Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity in the Most Blessed Sacrament. First Friday is a time to slow down a bit and receive God's love into our hearts, so we in turn can give that love to others. Eucharistic Adoration is a great way to focus on Jesus and be refreshed in His service!

How can I get Involved in this Special Time?

Visit the Saint Juan Diego Chapel in OLG Church and spend some quiet time in prayer with Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament. The chapel will be open after the 8 a.m. Mass until the Benediction at 4 p.m. Sign up for a half-hour of Eucharistic Adoration today. Or just show up! To sign up, please utilize the following SignUp Genius link:

Fifth Sunday of Easter

Acts 9, 26-31

He explained how the Lord appeared to Saul and spoke to him on his journey.

Psalm 22, 26-27. 28. 30. 31-32

I will praise you, Lord, in the assembly of your people.

1 John 3, 18-24

His commandments are these: that we believe and that we love one another.

John 15, 1-8

Saul witnesses the risen Jesus and boldly proclaims his Lordship. We proclaim our belief in Jesus by our love for one another. He is the vine and we the branches. Together let us praise his name on our assembly of worship.

Conversing with our kids about sex shouldn't be defined by a single, stammering, "talk" when our child hits puberty. Like the pursuit of purity itself, communication with our kids is lifelong. The Conversation will address how to initiate age-appropriate discussion free of fear and shame, how to approach technology, social media and pornography, and ultimately how to create an atmosphere of openness and honesty in your home where you are the go-to person for your kids.

FROM THE HEART OF A YOUNG FATHER

by Charles J. Chaput

4.18.18

Bishops get a lot of unsolicited mail from strangers, some of it pleasant, some of it much less so. It goes with the job. But every once in a while a letter comes in that's worth sharing with a wider audience.

Last month, in preparation for the October 2018 synod, roughly 300 young adults from around the world gathered in Rome to discuss their views of faith and the Church. The result was a valuable experience of dialogue and learning—so valuable that I think that continuing the process of listening to a wide range of young adult experiences is important. In that spirit, I offer a letter below, which I received just after the March pre-synod gathering. It was unsolicited and from a stranger—but hardly the first such letter to come my way. Though I've removed the author's name and other identifiers, the content is unchanged and used with his permission. It deserves consideration as we seek a fuller understanding of the pastoral challenges facing young adults in a changing world.

I am 26 years old, a father of three young children, and I wish to offer my perspective, shared by many of my peers, on Rome's upcoming synod [on "Young People, the Faith, and Vocational Discernment"].

Though the Church's growing focus on evangelization of the "Nones" is encouraging, there have been recent discussions emanating from several prominent figures in Rome and throughout Church leadership regarding a so-called "paradigm shift" relative to doctrine, the supremacy of individual conscience, and pastoral accommodation. My wife and I find these developments disturbing and potentially disastrous for the evangelization of the young and the fallen-away.

We young people crave the truth and clarity of good teaching. On a secular level this is evidenced by the meteoric rise in popularity of Jordan Peterson. We crave the truth, no matter how blunt or difficult it is for us to swallow or for the shepherds of our flock to teach.

Our culture is roiled in confusion concerning the basic tenets of human nature: From a very young age, we're deluged with propaganda that distorts basic scientific truths about gender, paints virtue and chivalry as "toxic masculinity," denigrates the family, and desecrates the nature of sex and its fruits, especially the unborn child.

We urgently need the Church's clarity and authoritative guidance on issues like abortion, homosexuality, gender dysphoria, the indissolubility of matrimony, the four last things, and the consequences of contraception (moral, anthropological, and abortifacient). My generation has never, or rarely, heard these truths winsomely taught in the parishes. Instead, we hear most forcefully and frequently from our bishops' conference and our dioceses regarding the federal budget, border policy, net neutrality, gun control, and the environment.

Increasingly, we have noticed an appeasement of modern culture under the broad cloak of pastoral sensitivity, including cases of some high-profile clergy who deliberately blur the Church's teaching regarding homosexuality and transgenderism in the name of "building bridges." The dubia remain unanswered.

Discussions of beauty in the liturgy and reverent reception of the Eucharist are mocked. Heads are scratched at decreasing Mass attendance, yet young people who look to tradition to recover our bearings are chided as "rigid."

*This shift away from clarity is demoralizing for young faithful Catholics, particularly those with a heart for the New Evangelization and my friends raising children against an ever-stronger cultural tide. Peers of mine who are converts or revert have specifically cited teachings like Humanae Vitae, Familiaris Consortio, and Veritatis Splendor as beacons that set the Church and her wisdom apart from the world and other faiths. Now they're hearing from some in the highest levels of the Church that these liberating teachings are unrealistic ideals, and that "conscience" should be the arbiter of truth.*

Young Catholics crave the beauty that guided and inspired previous generations for nearly two millennia. Many of my generation received their upbringing surrounded by bland, ugly, and often downright counter-mystical modern church architecture, hidden tabernacles, and banal modern liturgical music more suitable to failed off-Broadway theater. The disastrous effect that Beige Catholicism (as Bishop Robert Barron aptly describes it) has had on my generation can't be overstated. In a world of soulless modern vulgarity, we're frustrated by the iconoclasm of the past 60 years.

In sum, many of us feel that we're the rightful heirs of thousands of years of rich teaching, tradition, art, architecture, and music. We young Catholics increasingly recognize that these riches will be crucial for evangelizing our peers and passing on a thriving Church to our children. If the Church abandons her traditions of beauty and truth, she abandons us.

I offer these observations without bitterness or insult, but with love for my brothers and sisters who have not received the blessing, love, and formation God mysteriously granted to me and my friends. I am not alone. Though deeply troubled by the current state of affairs, we remain hopeful; and rooted in that confidence, we're raising large families who will inherit the future of the Church. I sincerely hope this can be conveyed emphatically at the upcoming synod, and I thank every pastor and bishop who stands as a role model for evangelizing, preaching the truth, and promoting the beauty and richness our faith has to offer.

I can add little to that kind of witness. I'll merely suggest the obvious: The future of the Catholic faith belongs to those who create it with their fidelity, their self-sacrifice, their commitment to bringing new life into the world and raising their children in truth, and their determination to walk Christ's "narrow way" with joy. May God grant the 2018 synod fathers the grace and courage to lead young people on that path.

Charles J. Chaput, O.F.M. Cap., Archbishop of Philadelphia.
